Handout

For doctoral candidates, who didn't take their examination in the purview of the basic law (§ 4 (2) der Promotionsordnung für die Tierärztliche Fakultät der Ludwig-Maximilians-Universität München)

Following documents must be tendered the deanery before the production of a dissertation

1. Request of the applicant;
2. Certification of a member of the doctorate committee, that he supervises the applicant or his dissertation
3. detailed curriculum vitae/résumé of the applicant;
4. Legally attested translation of the university degree certificates (certification is to approve by the consulate or the embassy), which shows, that the applicant has passed an exam similar to the german veterinary exam with at least the grade 3,0;
5. Certified translation of the attestation of the completed course of study which shows the passed subjects and the hours;
6. certified translation of the attestation final grade with scale of value points;
7. Verification, that if the applicant isn't a native German speaker, he commands the german or english language orally and in writing. Therefore it suffices a written acknowledgement of the supervisor.
